Father's Day Memories May Be Painful For Some

As printed in the Daily Herald

Father's Day is a day when most fathers are spoiled by being treated, at least at breakfast time, as the most important person around. It's great to have breakfast in bed and get special cards. Unfortunately, there are many men for whom Father's Day is not a happy event, but a day, which brings back memories of sorrow and pain.

For a father whose child has died, Father's Day can be one of the most painful days of their life. To have been a parent, and to have had this role torn away from you, hurts like no other hurt in life. And this hurt is often misunderstood by others. The pain and sense of loss on a day like Father's Day or Mother's Day never goes away for a bereaved parent. It subsides in time, but never completely disappears. The one day of the year that all bereaved fathers feel their pain together is on Father's Day.

Separated or divorced fathers may not see their children on Father's Day. The children may live miles away, or he may only be able to see them at scheduled times. The hurt between parents may be so great that children become pawns, used by one parent against the other. Even if a couple have a good agreement about the children, Father's Day reminds them and their children that their family has changed.

It is normal for those, whose father has died to find the first few Father's Days emotional and draining. It reminds them how much they miss him and how much they would like to be able to still talk with him. For them, Father's Day is not much of a celebration. Yet, if Father's Day is looked on as a day to honor one of the two parents who were a part of our upbringing, it can be also be seen as a memorial or thank-you to our fathers who have died.

Most of us are uncomfortable about dealing with such death and loss, fearing that we might not be able to handle it if it ever happened to us. As a result, we try to avoid bereaved fathers on Father's Day, afraid that our presence as fathers might be too much for a bereaved father to take. This doesn't help them or us. Bereaved fathers have to live in a world, which has many fathers in it. They live with their loss, despite the pain it puts them through. What a bereaved father needs most on Father's Day is for others to reach out and talk to him. But, how often do people do just the opposite?

If you're a father who is being treated on Father's Day, or if you're treating or honoring your own father, remember those for whom this day is not one of fun and lightness, but one of sad, poignant memories.

Encourage a friend who has lost his or her father to talk about their dad with you. Encourage a friend, who has lost a son or daughter to talk about their child with you. For by helping them share their stories, you show acceptance and concern, two of the attributes that are very important for any father.

Happy Father's Day to all men, whether you are in the process of raising children, whether they've grown up and are on their own, or whether tragedy has taken them from you. May you all feel support from each other.

This spring the Network participated in three special events to educate and support our Kansas communities. Thank you to the many volunteers, families, sponsors, and community partners that have gathered to educate and promote the mission of the SIDS Network of Kansas.

In April, the Network joined with the Kansas Blue Ribbon Panel on Infant Mortality, the Kansas Black Nurse Association, local health organizations, and the greater community to host Tonya Lewis Lee on a statewide education campaign to address the issues related to the racial disparities in infant mortality. According to the most recent annual summary published by the National Center for Vital Statistics (2007 data), Kansas ranked first (worst) among other states for black infant mortality. While the root cause of these disparities is complex, Ms. Lewis Lee's campaign highlighted the services, tools, and education available to address the health disparity. The Network accompanied Ms. Lewis Lee in Wichita, Topeka, and Kansas City to provide education. The Network is especially grateful to the SIDS families who shared their personal experience with the audience. The personal stories portrayed the reality of infant loss and the importance of awareness and education. The community event spurred other educational events; see page 3 for details about the Community Baby Shower on Saturday, June 18, 2011 at the All Occasions

Event Center in Wichita.

On April 19th, the Network presented at the Governor's Conference on Public Health and distributed over 800 Six Steps to Safety packets to Healthy Start Home Visitors. The safe sleep educational packet is delivered by Healthy Start Home Visitors to high risk new and expectant parents. The Network is appreciative of the eight year collaboration with the statewide Healthy Start Home Visitor Program to provide this essential information.

The 2011 Step Up for SIDS, 5K and Memory Walk, was held Saturday, May 7th at Wichita State University's Cessna Stadium. The event included over 600 participants, 100+ volunteers, and raised over $35,000 to support SIDS Network services. Every year I am moved at the level of compassion, spirit of generosity, athleticism, and enthusiasm of all involved. I am grateful for the Step Up Committee, event volunteers, participants, sponsors, and our 2011 Ambassador Family; Jason Lilly, Alicia Ortiz-Lilly and Marissa who participated in memory of their son and brother, Anthony Lilly. Thank you for your part in helping the Network achieve our goal: hope to see you at the 2012 event.

My Dad is a Survivor

By Kaye Des'Ormeaux

My dad is a survivor too
which is no surprise to me.
He's always been like a lighthouse
that helps you cross a stormy sea.

But, I walk with my dad each day
to lift him when he's down.
I wipe the tears he hides from others;
he cries when no one's around.

I watch him sit up late at night
with my picture in his hand.
He cries as he tries to grieve alone,
and wishes he could understand.

My dad is like a tower of strength.
He's the greatest of them all!
But, there are times when he needs to cry...
Please be there when he falls.

Hold his hand or pat his shoulder...
And tell him it's okay.
Be his strength when he's sad,
help him mourn in his own way.

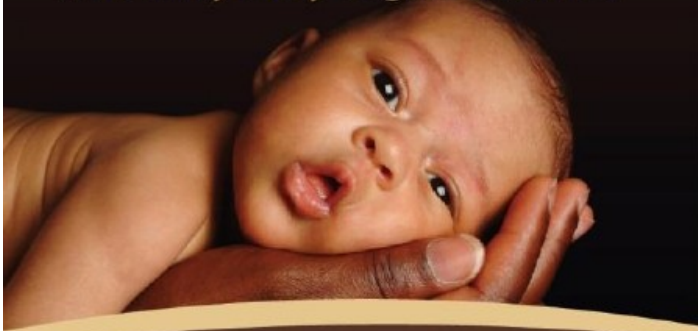

Now, as I watch over my precious dad
from the Heavens up above...
I'm so proud that he's a survivor...
And, I can still feel his love.

The end.

The mission of the SIDS Network of Kansas is to serve those who are or may be touched by the tragedy of SIDS by providing supportive services for all those affected, community awareness, professional development and support for medical research efforts.

A Healthy Baby Begins with You

Community Baby Shower for Safe Sleep

African American babies are dying too soon and too often.
Here is what we can do about it.

- The Black Nurse Association and the National Association of Hispanic Nurses will educate African American pregnant women and their support systems on safe sleep
- Provide, based upon availability, a safe crib and wearable blanket to pregnant women who receive the training
- Saturday, June 18, 2011, 3:00 p.m.
All Occasions Events Center
4940 E. 21st Street, Wichita, KS

Do you know someone who could benefit from this training and these baby items?

8th Annual Step Up for SIDS

Check out the SIDS web site for pictures of Step Up 2011 www.sidsks.org

At 10 a.m. on Saturday, May 7, 2011 the Ortiz-Lilly family, stepping in memory of their son and brother, Anthony, kicked off the 8th Annual Step Up for SIDS with a memorial walk around Cessna Stadium. With a record 616 steppers, over 100 volunteers, and a vast array of corporate sponsors, Step Up raised over $35,000, which will remain in Kansas to support the Network's mission to provide grief services, community awareness and support medical research efforts.

Thank you to the 2011 Step Up committee: Patty Calderon-Cordoba, Linda Hall, Tracey McNeely, Pete Sargent, Elyssa Seymour, Jessica Schmidt, Christy Schunn, and Diane Yoder. Thanks for your hours of work.

We are honored to have the opportunity to collaborate with such athletic and philanthropic community members to support the SIDS Network of Kansas. A heartfelt thanks to all the steppers, volunteers, and sponsors. We couldn't have done it without you.
