By: Brittany Shoot

Jennifer Ewing didn't set out to become a shipbuilder. After the 2004 death of her father, the San Francisco painter and sculptor began meeting with a curandera, or Native American healer, to work through her grief. At the time, Ewing had been painting Italian hill towns, working at capturing the geometry and a sense of place. But she couldn't shake the boat imagery that appeared to her in her counseling sessions—and the following year, the devastating images of New Orleanians escaping the floodwaters of Hurricane Katrina in lifeboats.

Deeply mourning her own loss and the national tragedy, inspiration struck. Over the next few years, Ewing became preoccupied with boats as powerful metaphors for drifting, navigation, and survival. She began cutting up plastic water bottles to create hulls, decorating the tiny vessels, and eventually exhibiting her newly constructed totems. In January 2011, she was the artist in residence at San Francisco's de Young Museum, where she held drop-in workshops for museum-goers to create their own works, "Spirit Boat Directions: Totems for Personal Journeys."

Ewing wasn't surprised that her work elicited strong reactions from visitors. "[What I was doing] became about people, and the universe, and where people could go to in my work," she says. In addition to the spiritual sculptures, which span the spectrum in terms of size and shape, she shifted her painting focus to ships and the sea.

Based on the positive responses to her workshops at the de Young, she began teaching boat making at children's art parties, adult grief groups, and even corporate teambuilding events. "This is a culmination of many years," she says of helping others find peace and healing through art. "It's been an experiment of sorts, encouraging people to feel their way through grief. But it's worked."

Maternal Infant Health Coalition

The Maternal Infant Health Coalition is dedicated to making Sedgwick County the best place for children to be born and grow.

Its mission is to improve maternal and infant health outcomes in Sedgwick County by assuring quality preconception and perinatal care and using data driven evidence-based practice and quality improvement processes.

MIHC's scope of work includes —

- Working in partnership with public and private organizations and groups who have a vested interest in maternal and infant health.
- Advocating for quality health care for all women and infants and improving their access to care.
- Striving to improve maternal health for women of reproductive age.
- Using data to understand and inform all actions.
- Promoting social equity.
- Championing health promotion efforts.
- Enhancing service integration.

Creating an Asset Map of Sedgwick County Maternal and Infant Health Resources is one of MIHC's first projects. Access this information at www.mssconline.org

Other activities include developing a Safe Sleep Toolkit for physicians and promoting Smoking Cessation activities.

Take courage friends.
The way is often hard, the path is never clear,
and the stakes are very high.
Take courage.
For deep down, there is another truth:
you are not alone.

Wichita, KS

Step Up for KIDS is the signature fundraising event for the Kansas
Infant Death and SIDS Network.

The mission of the Kansas Infant Death and SIDS Network, Inc. (KIDS Network) is to serve those individuals who have been touched by the tragedy of infant death or SIDS and those individuals or organizations who strive to reduce the risk of infant deaths by providing supportive services, community education, professional training, and supporting associated research.

Haley's 13th Annual SIDS Scramble was held August 26, 2013 at Crestview Country Club in Wichita, KS.

This year Haley's Scramble hosted 89 golfers and raised over $12,000 to support bereavement and community outreach across the State of Kansas.

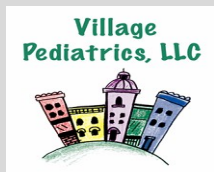

The Network is grateful for the hours of preparation dedicated by the 2013 volunteer Scramble Committee: Norm McNeely (chair), Brian Childers, Linda Hall, Pete Sargent, Kurt Schmidt, and Kolbe Sheridan.

Thank you to all the golfers, sponsors and volunteers who helped make the 2013 Scramble a success.
